

4 Principles of Safety at Work of NET4GAS

1. Always set the right example

Through your own behaviour show that safety at work is our number one priority in every situation. Do not leave it "for others", but instead always take an active role.

2. First consider your safety, then work

Every accident is preventable. Just follow our rules and use your common sense. Consider your safety before you start.

3. Either solve the problem, or address it

Cooperation and commitment are basic elements of safe cooperation. We learn from near accidents, openly discussing and analysing our mistakes. Nothing is to be swept under the carpet!

4. Safety standards apply to everyone

Our safety standards protect the community and the environment. The safety of everyone on the site, including suppliers, is crucial to us.
